The government authorities in Cork notified Deputy Mayor O'Callahan and the Bishop of Cork that no military display would be permitted at the funeral of MacSwiney and that neither drillings uniforms nor Republican army badges would be allowed.

The only Irish republican flag in the procession, it was stated, must be placed on the coffin, and the procession must not exceed a quarter of a mile in length. Troops will line the route to see that these regulations are obeyed.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 29 (By The Associated Press).—As the tug sailed for Cork with the body of Lord Mayor MacSwiney Bishop Cloyne gave the signal and the 2,000 people gathered on the quay knelt, bared their heads and recited prayers.

BELFAST, Oct. 29.—The Sinn Féin order for suspension of business to-day in honor of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney was generally complied with. In the Falls district shops were closed, and blinds were drawn in prices.

So largely attended was the requiem mass at St. Paul's Church that many persons could not gain entrance. These knelt in the street outside the church and prayed.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The scene at Holyhead early this morning when the authorities refused to allow MacSwiney's family to take his body to Dublin as they had planned, created a painful impression here.

The order sending the body to Cork soparently had been issued by Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Iteland, who feared that a demonstration would be made in Dublin.

The government had a considerable force of black and tans at the railroad station in Holyhead to meet the funeral train, and although Miss MacSwiney, a sister of the late Lord Mayor, protested against the removal of the coffin to a special steamship on which accommodations for only twenty accommodations for only twenty mourners were available, the repre

Why Foreign Countries Anxiously Watch Next Tuesday's Election

Never before has an American election been fraught with so much meaning to the rest of the world, to judge from the anxiety evident in the comment of the foreign press. In fact, this became so evident as the campaign went on that THE LITERARY DIGEST sent out an inquiry to the press abroad asking their views on our political struggle

In this week's number of "THE DIGEST"-October 30th-the replies to this inquiry are printed. They range from a tone of ardent hope that whether the next President be Mr. Harding or Mr. Cox, his election will clear away the after-mists of war which have risen from the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations, through degrees of distrust and cynicism to utter dismay that the United States, which was capable and courageous enough to help win the war, seems to lack the intelligence to realize she must also help win the peace. The replies that are printed represent seventeen countries in all, including England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Germany, Belgium, Japan, Spain, China, Sweden, etc.

Coming, as it does, practically on the eve of our Presidential election, this article will be read with great interest in America, as it reveals the world-wide anxiety over the outcome.

Among other striking features in this number of "THE DIGEST," you will find
